Unico Overview

All Unico air conditioning units have been designed specifically to eliminate the need of outdoor condensing units.

Eliminating the outdoor unit respects exterior building aesthetics as well as reducing installation costs and time.

Unico Range

For well over ten years, customers have been benefitting from Unico products across five continents, this is due to the versatile functionality and range variation Unico offers. To meet today's demanding air conditioning needs, Unico solutions are available in 5 models;

- Easy
Quick to install and simple to use fixed floor standing air conditioning units.
- Smart & R
Both the Unico Smart & Unico R models offer flexible high or low wall installation. Unico R offers additional heat when required.
- Inverter
Efficient cost cutting heating and cooling using DC inverter technology.
- Air
Quietest and slimmest model within the Unico range; compact, efficient & wall mounted.

Features & Benefits

Cost & Time Savings

All installation work can be undertaken from inside the building, including the drilling of the holes and fitting of the two grilles. With difficult to access external wall installation work removed, considerable time and money savings can be made.

Indoor & Outdoor Units Brought Together

Unico air conditioning units are supplied as a single unit, where traditionally this would have been two separate units, this gives Unico more credence to planning permission being granted. This is especially beneficial where external units are not permitted.

Easy Installation

With just the one unit to install and no interconnecting pipework needed, installation is made easy. No refrigeration experience is required meaning plumbers, electricians and general handymen are able to install Unico.

Grilles Vs Condensing Units

Unico grilles are only 202mm in diameter, Unico Easy and Air models are 162mm. Grilles are hardly noticed compared to the intrusive, ugly and noisy condensing units.

Year Round Climate Control

All Unico models are available as a cooling only option (SF) for use on those really hot days in the summer. Or for those of you that require all year round comfort, a cooling and heating (HP) option is also available; utilising the integrated heat pump.

Dehumidifier Function

As well as cooling and heating the air in which to relax, work and play, Unico air conditioners also double up as dehumidifiers; purifying the air.

Remote Control / Wall Pad Controller

As an optional extra a wall pad controller is available. This provides another option to program and control the air, offering even more convenience.
